

The Strange Message

Episode 2 • Ages 5–9 • Smart with AI & screens

In the episode: A friendly-sounding player in Mila's game offers her a free golden boat — if she shares her address and school. Mila gets a funny feeling in her tummy, worries she'll be in trouble, then tells Papá. Nobody is scared for long.

DINNER-TABLE QUESTION

"What things about us are private? If a message ever gave you a funny feeling, which grown-up would you tell?"

10-MINUTE ACTIVITY: PRIVATE OR OK TO SHARE?

Read each item aloud. Your child decides: OK to share, or private (stays in the family)? Then each draw around one hand and write the names of up to five grown-ups you can always tell — one on each finger.

Item	OK to share	Private
My favourite colour
Our home address
The name of my school
My favourite animal
A password
A photo of me
What I had for lunch
Our phone number

Answers: colour, animal and lunch are fine to share. Address, school, passwords, photos and phone number are private.

FOR GROWN-UPS

The one message to land: "You are never in trouble for telling me." Say it out loud, even if it feels obvious. Children often stay quiet because they fear losing the tablet.

WORD OF THE DAY: PRIVATE
